Just a "heads up". Tyler Bogardus attended the multiagency CWB meeting yesterday. He's preparing meeting notes which I'll forward to you when we get them, but one issue that came up was dredge spoil disposal from Oregon Inlet. Apparently some mention was made of the desire to have additional sites available and to try to create bird habitat (as has been the practice in the past). The USACE/NCWRC mentioned the possibility of creating a new island in the vicinity of the bridge that perhaps NPS could manage and/or expand Green Island thru deposition. I'll track this, but I told Britta that they needed to come to us to discuss before any decision. I'll likely talk to Sue Camerson, NCWRC today and get some more info.
