The biggest problem with the 50 meter penalty feature is the fact we don't know who tore the signs down, and it may well have been one of the three groups that is now running the national park! It is indeed unfortunate that Mike and NPS did not fight in court rather than admit guilt about not having an ORV plan. He was working on one and surely any competent and worthy judge would recognize this and give him time to complete it. In the last two Reg/Neg meetings I attended, I was absolutely stunned by the rudness of the three groups that now literally run Cape Hatteras National Seashore RECREATIONAL Area. Little wonder Mr. Moore was bored when I talked. They already have what they want and could care less about NPS of park users. The whole process, to me, will be a huge waste of time and money unless these three groups are excused and replaced. The argument that Neg/Reg will eliminate law suits is not true, so get rid of them. They are causing more problems then the closures with their arrogant behavior. The monitor also needs to check them up when they start the talk-down and order-around attitudes.

You all have on hell of a job ahead of you, and for the vary reasons I've already listed, I am truly glad I'm not seated at the table.

But at 76, I'll still pick up trash off the beach until some bird decides she/he wants some string for nesting, and then you can order me out. I've never seen Mr. Moore pick up one iota of trash! Never seen Sydney Maddox either. Guess he's too busy boarding up his house to clean the beaches.

Wake up before you lose all your friends!

Thanks for listening.
