Hi Destry,

We are interested in the Tread Lightly program. Just overwhelmed with stuff to do at the moment. Rick Potts, NPS recreation program manager in WASO, has had a conversation with the TL person. Apparently, TL has a grant from Toyota (or one of the car companies) to expend on education programs and may be willing to help develop something for us here. Feel free to pass along our interest, with the caveat that we are currently overwhelmed with developing consent decree-related information/educational materials. May be something we could take on in the fall.

Please respond to destryjarvis

Cyndy, Please pass this along to Mike. For some reason, when I try to send him an email directly it bounces back.

I have thought for some time that Tread Lightly could be of some help in CAHA ORV matters at some point, especially in the area of user ethics education. The attached, though, indicates that there may be more they could do - such as funding for an "adopt-a-ramp" project, with local groups taking on direct maintenance responsibilities as NPS partners.

I know the TL Ex. Director, and could inquire as to their interest in supporting some work at CAHA, if you want, or I could provide you all with the contacts.

Let me know.

HUMMER's Recreation Rescue

OVERVIEW

HUMMER and Tread Lightly! have announced the launch of a new partnership called HUMMER's Recreation Rescue, which will provide grants to outdoor recreation sites. The grants will be dedicated towards land use education, management and trail maintenance. At least $25,000 in grants will be given away in 2008.

HUMMER's Recreation Rescue was created under the umbrella of Tread Lightly!'s Restoration for Recreation program. Restoration for Recreation is designed to keep the great outdoors beautiful, healthy and open to the public by providing much needed resources for trail maintenance, education and communications initiatives to allow for environmentally sustainable outdoor recreation.

HUMMER is a division of General Motors Corp. (NYSE: GM), the world's largest vehicle manufacturer, which employs about 321,000 people globally. HUMMER is a premium off-road vehicle manufacturer with sales in 37 countries and a product line-up that consists of the H2, H2 SUT, H3, H3<sup>X</sup>, and award-winning H3 Alpha. Information on HUMMER products is available at www.hummer.com.

PROJECTS SELECTED

Project sites already selected for 2008 include off-highway vehicle areas in the Sierra National Forest in Central California and the Ocala National Forest in Florida. Other sites are currently under consideration and will be announced by the beginning of summer. Check back here for updates!

The initiative will kick off with a project on the popular Bald Mountain off-highway vehicle (OHV) trail in the Sierra National Forest. Funding and volunteers will help provide trail maintenance, install signage, print quality maps and develop educational outreach.

TO VOLUNTEER

As part of this "rescue effort," we will need dedicated, hard working volunteers who want to make a difference for their sport and the great outdoors. Volunteers will be needed to re-seed, install signage and kiosks, build trail enhancements and do other important tasks. Check back here for updates!

Current Volunteer Opportunities:

Join us for some fun-filled work days!

1) Volunteers will be needed in the Ocala National Forest Saturday morning, June 21. This volunteer workday will involve digging holes and planting posts for route markers.

2) Volunteers are also needed to help with tasks on the Bald Mountain OHV trail in the Sierra National Forest. We will move some rocks, do some shovel work and do some armoring of the creek—which means laying flat rock down on the stream bed to prevent erosion.

If you are interested in volunteering, just send an email to treadlightly@treadlightly.org and we will contact you with times and directions.
