Mike,

Although I do not agree with the running over of the sign, the pictures of the tire tracks in the sand are basically worthless as I see it. They appear to be random pictures not associated with the sign. Also, don't forget that the vandalism was probably done by a sympathizer of DOW or Audubon in an effort to add fuel to the fire.

You all have a big fight on your hands and I feel for you all who work at the park. But, I also feel that my rights to access the beach have been severely and quite obviously violated. I feel the NPS, DOI, Congress, and the Judicial system have failed completely with respect to managing this issue. Although you are working your butts off... you are going about this in the wrong way. What you should be doing is having Congress give NPS the rights to manage access to the beaches. Then you would be in control and able to control and manage reasonable bird closures and preserve our rights to access the beach via ORV.

Lets get CHNSRA back on track with access to all the beaches with respect to nature, and removal of the night time ban. I would also like to see repair and opening of all the campgrounds with year round access to the campgrounds. This is a national park and the campgrounds should be open 24/7/360 even if that means "primitive" camping in the off seasons.

Sincerely,
Andrew Fonda (aka Snagster on Red Drum Tackle)
