Hey Sandy -

Here are a few more comments from Tommy Jones. Sorry!

Jami

Chapter 1:

p. 30 8-10 "One shipwreck, the Laura A. Barnes on Bodie Island Beach, ~~is~~ was considered eligible for the National Register and ~~is pending for listing in the NPS list of Classified Structures~~ until its recent destruction by beach erosion during Hurricane Isabel."

The last two paragraphs under "Archeological Resources" contained some redundancies, which the comments below are meant to correct:

p. 30 12-16 "Shipwrecks on the beach are the resources of most concern because many of these shipwreck sites are ephemeral; in other words, they are uncovered and covered by storms, winds, and tides, which make it difficult for NPS to manage them. ~~they are often buried and become visible when the sands move. At this point~~ If visible, the location of the resource can be marked and protected, but many times the sand will move again before this is possible."

p. 30 26-28 ~~Many of these shipwreck sites are ephemeral; in other words, they are uncovered and covered by storms, winds, and tides, which make it difficult for NPS to manage them. None of the shipwreck sites in the area of ORV use is~~

p. 30 33-34 ". . . any known archeological sites, ~~therefore~~. Therefore, this topic was not carried forward for further analysis."

p. 31 39-32 "The NCDRC responded to this request in a letter dated June 2, 2009, stating that adequate information was not provided for the National Register Advisory Committee to determine ~~if~~ that the sites should be placed on the Study List as properties that appear to be potentially eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places at TCPs.
