Hello Mike, Just a few lines here thanking you for the opportunity to speak my thoughts about historical Cape Point. There was certainly some high heart-felt emotions running last night. However, I was wondering why the two people that started this whole mess were the only ones that spoke directly against access. Everyone I know thinks the enclosures are not a bad thing. It's the no to-and- from shore side access and the ridicules non-science 1000 meter buffers that has the people very angry.....including many birders I view with. There's room for all, especially at Cape Point. Some time soon, this country will be run by a common sense majority rules system again. I asked Derb why they could not have done this with the community, the Park, and the State where they could have came out looking like a knight in shining armor, real heroes. Then I foolishly remembered he's a lawyer.....where's the money? Mike, I know you are caught right in the middle of this now but I'd run with the people if I were you. That's what the Department of Interior will have to do once the new Congress gets a hold of them in after this November. As always, thank you for your hard work and invested time. Regards, Kevin Mc Cabe.
