Britta,

How does this sound as a revised definition? (Please make suggestions for edits or changes.)

Human disturbance: Any human activity that changes the contemporaneous behavior of beach nesting birds that are breeding, nesting, foraging, or roosting, or migrating/wintering birds that are using the beach and associated habitats for foraging and roosting. Bird behaviors indicating disturbance include defensive displays; alarm calls; flushing or leaving a nest or feeding area; and diving or mobbing pedestrians, dogs, or vehicles.

Thanks,
