Jim,

The NPS completed its evaluation of the four places of interest (Bodie Island Spit, Cape Point, Hatteras Inlet, and South Point Ocracoke) and stated its determination in the November 2010 final ORV management plan/EIS (FEIS). It was determined that these areas are not eligible for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places as Traditional Cultural Properties. The information in the FEIS is found in the "Ethnographic Resources" section on pp. 35-36 in Chapter 1. There is related information in the Response to Concern ID: 24160 in Appendix C, Volume 2, (p. C-161) of the FEIS.

Mike
Since our earlier conversations & emails, I have heard nothing concerning NPS review of potential TCPs identified within Cape Hatteras National Seashore Recreational Area. With a final report on the near horizon & OMB's review in process, I have expected a follow-up from someone within NPS. Does this lack of communication indicate that NPS has elected to ignore the TCP issue?

I anticipate a definitive reply whether affirmative or negative.

Have a happy Father's Day with your boys.

Jim,

According to staff, the TCP issue is still under review by NPS. The process is expected to take several more months. We can contact you in a few months with an update if you wish.

Mike

Monday it will be a month since I asked for information concerning studies of the potential TCPs identified in our earlier correspondence and meetings. It is unlike you to have not responded with at least an acknowledgement or progress report and to date I have received neither.

I would appreciate an update of any activities on this study whatever they may be.

Thank you.

Mike,

In your letter of March 3, 2010 you stated that an ethnographic analysis of the four locations in our discussions was being conducted. To date I have neither heard from those conducting the study nor have I heard from anyone in the community that has been contacted.

I would very much appreciate an update on the status of this study.

Thank you,
