Thanks Kenny. David also suggested that we advise the rental companies to make copies of the rules and regs. and have a signature line for the person renting the vehicle. This way the rental company has proof that the individual renting the vehicle acknowledges the regulations and if we catch them drunk driving and revoke the permit the rental company has a way to charge them the yearly permit fee for a new permit.

Subject Re: Fw: ORV permit questions

I totally agree with what David Carter said.... I think the way that it has been suggested would be a fair way.... then if they are in violation of something they (owner) could loose their right to have the sticker. Also feel that maybe the person using the vehicle (Renters) should come in and look at the video ...then they would know what they are suppose to do while out there are far as the rules and regulations.

Thanks
Kenny
