(Language requested by one of the RegNeg subcommittees to establish strict consequences for noncompliance if anyone violates the proposed self-contained vehicle camping permit. I want to be sure whatever we say is legally and procedurally correct.)

Subject Re: Language for self-contained camping violations

Ona,

Try this:

Any permittee who violates the terms and conditions of the self-contained vehicle (SCV) permit by camping in a non-designated area within the Seashore is subject to being cited for the violation, will have his/her SCV permit revoked, and will be denied from obtaining any ORV related permit at CAHA for a period of no less than five years.

Subject Language for self-contained camping violations

Mike,

Please give us the correct language for the paragraph in the self-contained vehicle section that currently reads:

Any self contained vehicle that is found to be camping in a non-designated area will be banned from obtaining any ORV related permit at CAHA for a period of no less than five years.

Suggestions from the committee included:

- and owner/operator (depending on who got the permit)
- "with this permit"
- through appropriate administrative process or procedure
- concern about what if something that isn't really intended to be camping is interpreted that way and mis-categorized with such a serious punishment.

Thanks,

Ona
