Frank,

At the last meeting Carla asked if NPS would post Walker's shorebird literature list, since it had only been shared with the natural resources subcommittee previously. We were simply complying with her request, as we understood it.

(Note: Walker's earlier list had contained not only the titles and authors of the documents, but also the abstracts from the research studies. The Solicitors advised us to remove the abstracts before we posted the list, since many of the research reports may be copyright protected.)

having arrived back in Buxton night before last I did read Kate's article about the Judhe's hearing and your response and agree with your email to me. Thanks.

Now on a new note. Today we received another list of "stuff" that Walker has produced to back his wants. I call them stuff for not better name for them.

This list indicates "birds exist." Again, I worry this is being used as big smoke screen or eye wash. Without a detailed assessment of these papers or other papers and reports--at big cost-- we can conclude nothing. Why does NPS even bother to post these?

Your comments please.

Thanks
